Foreword

In the early sixties the plan of this institution was conceived and the first money, some twenty thousand dollars, was subscribed in 1869. In 1871 it was recognized by the state, through an act of the General Assembly, but it was not opened until May 17, 1875. So the years of Indiana now number thirty-nine. The achievements of those years make a long story. At times one marvels at the prophetic foresight which the men who founded this school displayed, when they felt the need of such an institution and chose its present location. Again one sometimes wonders if it were not the hand of God made manifest through the hands of man. Be that as it may, one cannot but feel after having lived here for a time, that no more advantageous location could have been chosen. The beauty of its encircling hills forms an appropriate setting for a school of this nature. To the chance visitor they offer an impressive scene. Then there is another conception to those who linger with us, who stay long enough to feel the influence of an atmosphere pregnant with true school life. To the latter class there comes, sooner or later, a mystic something, invisible, indescribable, yet nevertheless potent and real. What this force may be no one can tell. Whatsoever it may be it gives a love for Indiana that is undoubtedly the most valued heritage that its Alma Mater can transmit to her sons and daughters. It is a birth-right which they may carry with them to the end of life itself, and which, if they ever hold in due reverence, and listen to its teachings, will add new luster to her name.

History of The Instano

In the year of nineteen hundred eleven the need of a school annual was felt at this school, and the Senior Class---1912---decided that they would put out a book. After a great many difficulties they succeeded in putting out the first volume of The Instano. This first volume was a success from every standpoint but a financial one. The debit, however, was overcome by the aid of additional taxation upon the Seniors, and the kindness of Dr. Ament, and The Instano launched forth upon its career. Undaunted by the difficulties that confronted the Class of 1912, the Class of 1913 set out to make a better and bigger book for the following year. Through the untiring effort of Gladstone A. Carmalt they carried out their purpose, and the second volume made its appearance,---a handsomely bound book of 275 pages. This year, the task of putting out a book has been far greater than either of the previous years. Great difficulties have unexpectedly appeared, and it is only after a great amount of hard labor that we are able to present for your approval this, the third volume of The Instano. We sincerely hope that its readers will overlook the faults and enjoy the book.

DR. JAMES E. AMENT

DR. JAMES E. AMENT, Principal

Recent years have shown a marked development in The Indiana Normal School. This growth, although gradual, has been very steady. It has grown from thirty pupils until now it numbers over fourteen hundred on its roll book.

We are glad to say that a great part of this recent development is due to our present principal, Dr. James E. Ament. He has worked steadily in placing Indiana Normal foremost among the State Normals.

James E. Ament was born at Woodburn, Illinois, September 2, 1863. He is a son of the Reverend James Roe Ament, and a great-grandson of Thomas Metcalfe, United States Senator, and tenth Governor of Kentucky. His ancestors were mostly Southerners.

Dr. Ament's early education was received in the public schools of his native state, and at Valparaiso University. He was graduated from Illinois State Normal University in 1892, and in 1906 he received the degree of Doctor of Laws from Kentucky University.

Dr. Ament's teaching career began in 1882, when he taught in the public schools of Illinois. Since then, he has held the following positions: the Superintendency of the schools of Carroll, Iowa, and later of Rock Island, Illinois; the Presidency of the State Normal at Alva, Oklahoma, and at Warrensburg, Missouri. He came to the Indiana State Normal as Principal in 1906. Dr. Ament has had great success in all his positions, each and every school having shown a marked development during the period of his administration.

Dr. Ament has travelled extensively in all parts of Europe. He is the author of numerous educational articles, which show his keen insight into human nature. His wonderful understanding of the pupils has done much towards building up this school. May he have still greater success in all his works.

JANE E. LEONARD

JANE E. LEONARD

Miss Jane E. Leonard is one of the most widely known and honored women of Pennsylvania. She was born in Leonard, near Clearfield, Pennsylvania. Leonard's station, Leonard House and the Leonard graded schools are traces of the work of her father and brothers.

The aim and work of Miss Leonard's life is that of a teacher. She has spent almost the whole of her later life in two of the leading Normal Schools of the State; first as a student, and then as a teacher in the Normal School at Millersville. Later when the Normal School at Indiana was founded she was called there, and has remained ever since, holding the office of preceptress as well as acting as instructor.

She has seen the school grow gradually from thirty boarders the first year of its existence—the winter of 1875—to more than a thousand students now.

No one can ever estimate the influence that Miss Leonard exerts over the students, especially her girls, by whom she is affectionately termed "Aunt Jane." She has helped them to form higher ideals and live better lives. Miss Leonard looks upon what she may have done for Indiana as her life's work, and the honor and the esteem of its students as her life's reward.

The Pennsylvania State Normal School History

The plan of this institution was conceived in the sixties, the first money, some twenty thousand dollars, being subscribed for its founding in 1869. The first recognition by the State was through an act of the General Assembly in 1871, but the school was not opened until May 17, 1875. Its first principal was Dr. E. B. Fairfield, who afterwards, as the first Chancellor of the University of Nebraska, so largely influenced the future of that institution.

Among the notable men present upon the opening day of the school was one of Pennsylvania's most famous educators, then State Superintendent of Public Instruction, James P. Wickersham, who stated in his public address that it was his opinion that Indiana's first building was the largest, finest and best-planned structure devoted to normal school education in the United States. A monument to its founders, that building still stands, and in honor of the first president of the board of trustees, it is known as John Sutton Hall.

In 1893 there was erected upon our campus a brick residence for men students. The building was forty by one hundred feet, and consisted of a basement and three stories. In February, 1906, this building burned to the ground. There were excellent fire escapes, so not only were no lives lost, but there were no serious injuries.

The ruins were not cold before the trustees were planning for a larger and better dormitory for our young men, and in January, 1907, the Indiana boys took possession of one of the best school residences for men in the State. The building stands upon the site of the old one, but is somewhat larger, and is known as Clark Hall, in honor of the board's second president, the late Justice Silas M. Clark, of the Supreme Bench.

In 1893, also, the board erected, to the northward of the main building, the Model School, and named it in honor of their third president, the A. W. Wilson Hall. This building contains eight large, airy classrooms, with ample playrooms in the basement for use on stormy days.

The year 1903 marked a strong advance in Indiana's material equipment. The Normal's Recitation Hall was then erected. It stands just to the southward of Wilson Hall, completing the east wing of the quadrangle. A stately structure it is and one of the most beautiful on the campus. The dimensions are a frontage of one hundred and thirty feet and a depth of one hundred and twenty-three. The building is the school proper of the Normal and contains twenty-four large beautiful rooms. The Trustees honored themselves by naming this building after one of their most widely known and most faithful teachers, Jane E. Leonard.

During that same year there was erected to the westward of the south wing of John Sutton Hall another most beautiful and imposing structure, one hundred and twenty-three by ninety-two feet in size and three stories high. In the basement of this building is the laundry and storage, while on the first floor are the kitchens, dining-rooms, and the Steward's office; the Musical Conservatory occupies the second and third stories. This building is known as Thomas Sutton Hall, in honor of the President of the Board of Trustees.

During the past few years something more than $60,000 have been spent in improving the Institution's plant, the most noteworthy improvement being the erection of a cold storage plant in connection with the refectory. This cold storage plant is pronounced by experts to be one of the very best in all the country. It enables the school to manufacture its own ice, and to furnish its students at all times with the choicest fresh meats.

During the year 1910 two notable additions to our building have been made — an annex to the dining hall, seating from eighty to one hundred and an annex to the girls' dormitory, accommodating sixty two girls. The dining-room annex contains a very large fireplace, which promotes good cheer and helps the ventilation materially. The annex to the girls' dormitory affords to each two girls occupying it a suite consisting of a sitting-room and bedroom. There are two large wardrobe closets, one for each girl. In the bedroom each girl has her own bed, and there is a porcelain lavatory supplied with hot and cold water. No dormitory, however high the charges of the school, affords its occupants better rooms than these. This building is practically fireproof, and its bathrooms—one on every floor—are tiled and finished in Italian marble. Occupants of these rooms pay from seventy-five cents to one dollar a week extra.

During the past year, the Trustees bought land off the Campus and across the P. R. R., and erected a Power Plant at a cost of $120,000. This is one of the most complete plants owned by a school. It provides all heat and light and furnishes power for the elevators, ventilating fans and culinary machinery.

Indiana's student growth has never been phenomenal, but it has been steady, and has increased from 328, the total enrollment of that first term back in 1875 to more than 1,500, the number for the year just closed.

WHISTLE

When times are bad and folks are sad,

    An' gloomy day by day,

Just try your best at looking glad,

    An' whistle them away.

Don't mind how troubles bristle,

    Just take a rose or thistle; hold your own,

And change your tone,

    And whistle, whistle, whistle.

A song is worth a world of sighs,

When red the lightnings play,

Look for the rainbow in the skies,

    An' whistle them away.

Each day comes with a life that's new,

    A strange continued story,

But still, beneath the bend o' blue,

    The world rolls on to glory.

The Association

The Class of 1914 is the thirty-ninth graduating class at Indiana Normal. From 1876 to the present, each school year has ended with commencement exercises, on which occasion the Seniors are magically turned into alumni. Thus the Indiana Alumni Association waxes greater in number every year, until it now includes thousands of graduates. The Alumni register in the catalogue reveals the fact that Indiana graduates are to be found in every part of the world and almost every calling in life. While nearly every graduate teaches on leaving Normal, many of them pass on to other pursuits. We are glad to notice more and more the tendency toward higher education among our alumni.

Every Normal graduate becomes a member of the Alumni Association upon graduation, the class being received as a whole into the Association on the morning of Class Day. The Alumni Business Meeting is now held in Chapel, as so many wish to attend that no other room is large enough. At this meeting committees report, alumni officers are elected, and speeches by alumni are the order of the day.

On Tuesday evening of commencement week the Alumni Banquet and Dance is held. An elaborate banquet is served at 7 o'clock in the Normal Refectory. Music by the Conservatory Orchestra and a few short toasts by officers and alumni add to the occasion. After the banquet comes the dance, for which a special dance orchestra is engaged. The attendance has always been the largest of the annual dances. This year should prove a record-breaker, as all the Pittsburgh teachers will be able to attend this year's Commencement. Alumni Associations are found in several counties in Western Pennsylvania. Yearly banquets are held in Johnstown, Greensburg, Kittanning and Pittsburgh. With seven hundred alumni in Allegheny County, the Pittsburgh banquet is always well attended, some three hundred and fifty being present on April third at the Monongahela House.

In July of each year the Allegheny County Alumni Picnic is held at the home of Doctor Stevens on the Oakmont trolley line near Wilkinsburg. This year the date will be Saturday afternoon, July eleventh. The alumni bring baskets and eat supper in groups. The Stevens hospitality is famous, and all the Normal graduates and friends are made most welcome at their beautiful country place. Dancing enlivens the evening hours. The attendance is usually several hundred.

While all Indiana graduates are made welcome at Commencement time, and should come back whenever possible the ten, twenty and twenty-five year classes are always especially invited, and are the guests of the school for a week at their anniversary celebration. The special classes this year are 1889, 1894, 1904.

JAMES HERBERT RUSSELL, 1895, 1901.

Class History 1914

With the fall of 1910, the first glimpse of our Senior Class was seen. This was the last time students could enroll in the three-year course, but a few decided to take four years. Little is known of this year because of the small size of the class.

With the opening of the fall of 1911, the new four-year course first went into effect. The Sophomore class numbered only about forty. However, we were proud of our little body, and already many were looking forward to the coveted goal, 1914. We were also proud of the fact that we were members of the first Sophomore class in the history of Indiana. Many of us were graduates of second-class High Schools, while others entered with less credits. In the opening of the Spring and Winter terms, a few more were added to our list. Every day we were increasing both in number and wisdom. Happily we look back over those days when we read of the terrible wars of Caesar and burned the midnight Tungsten over our Plane Geometry. Faithful were the teachers who brought us safely through that year. In a body, we posed in front of the camera of the 1912 Instano. We smile now as we look at the eager faces of that picture. Happy we were that we did not have to take State Board Examinations.

Our Junior year was a pleasant one for all. We gladly welcomed to our little body about one hundred new students who had been graduated from first-class High Schools and had come to complete the course in two years. Strangers we were at first, but very soon we had a class meeting and then we became a real live organization. Blue and Gold were chosen as our class colors; the yellow rose as our class flower, and "Now sibi, sed omnibus" as our motto. Homer Landenslager was chosen president; Howard Kring, Vice President;

Mary Luvera Smith, Treasurer. With these officers in charge, we began a very successful year. We now assumed new responsibilities and underwent new experiences. Despite the rain, we fought bravely for our colors in the color rush.

We became better acquainted with each other after holding our Halloween Dance. It was our first social function. Everyone spoke of it as the best dance of the year.

Months flew by and at last we realized that we were nearing the time to take State Board examinations. With anxious hearts we waited for the faculty recommendations. Only a few failed to meet their requirements. The State Board decision showed that all had proved themselves capable of passing another mile stone in their lives. How happy we were, probably the happiest in the school. We were Seniors!

We took up our work in the Senior year with quiet dignity, for as Seniors we were supposed to set an example for all underclassmen. Teaching in Model added another dignity and also another responsibility to us; but, as loyal Seniors, we thought always of the meaning of our motto and realized that a difficulty overcome makes one stronger.

We missed a few of the faces of the previous year and were sorry not to have them with us. A few new ones came to join us.

The business of our Senior year has been successfully conducted by Homer Laudenslager, President; Howard Kring, Vice President; Lula Esson, Secretary, and Daisy Zelt, Treasurer. A wiser choice could not have been made. J. W. A. Brown was elected Editor-in-Chief and Earl D. Matthews, Business Manager of our 1914 Instano.

The Senior hay-ride was a decided success despite the valiant efforts of the Junior class to make it otherwise.

That long looked for event, the Senior Ball, was undoubtedly a grand success. The decorations, music, refreshments, programs, all were beyond criticism. No Senior will ever forget it.

The Instano

Perhaps the most interesting event of our Senior year was the Senior-Faculty basket ball game. The faculty entered into it with great vim and force with the desire to show the students that they could not only instruct them along the line of learning, but also prove themselves stars (?) along the line of athletics. The score, 11-9 in favor of the Seniors, proved how fruitless were their attempts.

Without one regret we record this history of our class and only hope that in the future, we can look back upon these days with contented remembrance and think that they could have been spent in no more desirable place than Indiana.

JANE BELL, '14.

COMMENCEMENT

There is no time so joyful yet so sad
Day of mem'ries, day of hopes so glad.

We toiled together with one goal in view,
Each time our burden greater to renew,
Our years as days have vanished, so it seems,
In this fulfillment of our dearest dreams.

Among the hundreds we our friends did choose,
To form such bands, ah, nevermore to lose!
In kindly nearness we did live and work;
Up to the goal, by which there seemed to lurk
Sweet living voices telling of that day
When, duty-bound in life, we took our way.

'Tis now when all is o'er and friends do part,
We look into the past with longing heart
To live again those days of toil and zeal,
And call them pleasant, although not as real
And when we did our joys and sorrows share,
And thought our student woes a world of care.

Dear faces come before us as of old,
In each the mem'ries of our work untold;
Forgotten lines on lips of some return,
Extinguished thoughts in other spirits burn;
thoughts in other spirits burn;
Oft times recall those days but with regret,
They're just a dream,—a dream, lest we forget.

We scatter in this world, our parts to take,
Along in life the greatest aims to make,
For 'tis the Class of Classes we uphold,
This Class of Nineteen fourteen,—blue and gold,
And each to each bid Godspeed, ah, Farewell!
PHYLLIS SMALL, '14.

Farewell Normal

Normal days are past forever
With their work and with their play
Days we never want to sever
From life's years what ere you say.

Sometimes days were bright and cheery
Full of life and hope and joy;
Others just a wee bit teary
Happiness must have alloy.

One by one we pass in silence
O'er the thoughts of "Lit" and "Ped,"
Analysis and art and science,
Thoughts we need no more to dread.

How we love the thoughts of striving
Working on with classmates, dear;
And the fun of friendly vieing
When Commencement time draws near.

So while struggling with the sternest,
We have learned much to unfold;
Life is real, life is earnest
And our lines are yet to mould.

Dear old Normal, tears are falling
What we are we owe to thee;
Other fields are calling—calling
Thus our farewell now to thee.

It is best to leave you thus—
Best for you and best for us.

The Man of the Hour

I recall you, Smith, before I knew my letters,
And later when we both attended school,
While in many ways I knew you had your betters,
You were absolutely peerless as a fool.

I remember how you slaughtered English grammar,
How you tackled simple fractions all in vain;
How geography the teacher failed to hammer
Into what was called by courtesy, your brain.

I remember that some twenty-one years later,
When you had attained at least a man's physique,
You were toiling for your honorable pater,
And were overpaid at fifteen bucks a week.

I remember that at every social function
You were always just a sort of standing joke;
The women kidded you without compunction,
Or they let you sit alone outside and smoke.

So I marveled at the wonderful ovation
You received upon your entrance here to-night,
And I wondered by what magic transformation
Could contempt be changed to feminine delight.

To the riddle, though, I found a ready answer,
Ere the orchestra had struck a dozen bars;
As a "frotter" I could see you were some dancer!
So I'm glad I brought along a few cigars.

—Maurice Switzer.

Junior Class History

By A SENIOR.

In the fall of 1911, quite a thrifty-looking bunch of youngsters banded themselves together under the name of "Freshies," and they were true to their name during their Freshman year. They behaved as all good children should and nothing worthy of note happened.

In the fall of 1912, they appeared as Sophomores and with their entrance their number was greatly increased. During this year they studied hard and paid little attention to social affairs, for they were not yet out in the Society World of Indiana, further than taking strolls in the "Pair Orchard" and "holding up" North door.

But it was only in the fall of 1913, as Juniors, that they began to exist, for up to this time they created little excitement. They now awakened and things began to brighten. With the opening of this school year, their number was again increased, and this time by the number of High School Graduates who entered. At the first of the year, a meeting of the Junior Class was called and officers elected for the coming year. After being organized, they made themselves prominent in the school life and we, the Seniors, were glad to welcome them. Life went on smoothly for awhile until the day of the Senior Hay Ride and the Annual Color Rush between the Juniors and Seniors,—in this they did well, considering their opponents.

In the Color Rush, Joy Douglass starred for the Juniors, while Mary starred for the Seniors. The Juniors put up a brave fight, but the Seniors departed happily on their Hay Ride.

The next move on the part of the Juniors was of a social nature, namely, their debut into society, or their Coming Out Party. This was celebrated by the Junior Dance. The debutantes were charming; excelled in this respect only by those of the Junior Dance of the previous year. This was a most enjoyable affair.

The Juniors have been struggling hard on their way up the ladder of success; but looking up at the Seniors, at the very top, they seem to have a long and weary road to travel before they reach the eminence for which they are striving. But plod on, Juniors, you will get there yet.

Among some of the notorious members of the class, for after all it is the members who make the History of a Class, may be mentioned: Glea Craig, Clarence Fleck and "Nink" Tomb.

Craig, a member of the Junior Class, and likely to be for some time to come, is a young man of considerable leisure. In fact, it is only during his leisure that he goes to classes. As some one has said of this young man: his speed limit exceeds his ambition. The whole Class History could be written on Mr. Craig alone, but we must not neglect other famous characters of the class.

"Chink" Fleck poses as the dignified president of the Junior Class, and as such fills his office most worthily. Ask Clarence anything you wish to know about Physies; he will tell you. As an organist, Clarence is truly a genius. Have you ever heard him?—well you've missed a treat if you have not. For this young man, I predict a brilliant career as an Organ Grinder.

Passing on to other illustrious characters we come to that of "Nink" Tomb. "Nink" is a fine fellow; his only fault being that of his great consuming capacity. Other famous members, whose names will go down in History are Joy Douglass, Peg Flegal, Marie Feick, Margaret Seibert and Helen Hartsack, who are famed for their starring in Basketball.

As a final greeting, the Senior Class of 1915 wish to the Juniors all good luck and success, which they will have if they follow in the footsteps of their worthy predecessors.

SOPHS

J. W. & BROWN 1914

The Sophomore Class History

Yes, there they are— the wee innocent youngsters called "soft mores," who first honored this noble institution with their presence in 1912.

How they have grown—one by one they appear with their hair "piled up" and gracious, there comes one who has attempted to raise a mustache. Think of those dear little things, why they were just learning to walk when they came here, but since they have endured the fires of J. C. Smith's geometry class they have made rapid strides in infant-hood, and now are at the stage of development where cracker-soup can be digested without harm.

Some of these dear little things thought to interfere with the Senior hay-ride but in their endeavor they were trampled by the horses, and it was necessary to carry the crying tots to their cribs. Since then they have been acquiring the knowledge which is necessary to admit them to a stronger diet consisting of literature, which is doped out in large quantities in the Junior year.

We would not be too severe with these tots, but suggest that they keep off the grass.

Take it as you find it,
Black or beaming sky,
Smile, and never mind it,
Little time to sigh.

Fast the clouds are creeping,
O'er the heaven's blue,
Little time for weeping,
Skies 'll weep for you.

Keep the pathway steady,
Heaven is not so high.
When God calls, say, "ready,"
Smile, and kiss good-bye.

The Allied Arts Club

Motto

"Culture is the Pathway to a Higher Life."

The Allied Arts Club, as the name implies, is composed of members from the special departments of the school.

The purpose of the club is to inspire a love of the beautiful in all the arts. The club holds its meetings twice each month.

The programs are prepared and rendered by members of the faculty and students, with occasional addresses by Dr. Ament and others. These programs are varied in character, each one presenting some phase of art. Some of the subjects given have been: "American Women in the Arts," "Russian Music," "Nuremburg in Prose, Poetry and Art," and Longfellow's "Deramos" with musical accompaniment.

The club seal shows a Grecian figure representing the unity of the arts. She lights her lamp from the Divine fire, which signifies the drawing of inspiration. Peace and Victory are represented as a palm branch. A wreath typifies earthly honors, while a scorpion within the wreath suggests the sting contained in such honors. Ivy leaves typify death to which art is superior. A Delta represents perfection; a circle, the shape of the seal, symbolizes eternity. Stars at the top of the design suggest ideals above and beyond our reach. A harp depicted in smoke typifies the elusive mystery of music.

The Allied Arts Club of 1913 presented to the Conservatory, Alma Tadima's "Reading Homer," a very famous picture.

The officers of the club for 1913-14 are Leah Chubbuck, president; Mildred Lutz, secretary, and Louie Kemmy, treasurer.

The Y. W. C. A.

The Young Woman's Christian Association was founded in 1897 with Miss Mary H. Crombie as first president, and during the sixteen years of its existence, has exerted a helpful influence upon the girls of the school. Its purpose is to unite them in loyalty to their Master and to build them up in the knowledge of Christ through Bible study and Christian service.

One of the departments of the organization is the Whatsoever Society, founded in 1901 by State President Mrs. Lowry. Its pathway of fourteen years has been marked by good work among the poor, as well as by many acts of kindness bestowed upon patients in the school infirmary. The motto of the department is "What Would Jesus Do?"

The Mission Study Class, in the hands of Mrs. See and Miss Edna B. Smith, is very helpful and its work is widely felt through the school.

Many fine suggestions for the past year were obtained by the delegates at the summer conference at Eagles Mere, Penna., and at the District Convention of Normal Schools and Colleges at Geneva College, Beaver Falls, Penna.

During its existence at this school, the Y. W. C. A. has maintained a missionary in India, and one at the Southern Industrial School in Ashville.

The present officers are:

President	AMANDA RENARD
Vice President	MARGUERITE McMEKIN
Secretary	MARIAN SALTSMAN
Treasurer	MARY SHERIDAN

THE Y. W. C. A. CABINET

The Y. M. C. A.

The Young Men's Christian Association was established in the Indiana State Normal School in 1897, and since then a National Charter has been secured.

The purpose of the organization is to train young men in Christian work. Though they may not take up special Christian work, the society cannot fail to exert a good influence in the later life of the men, and make them more useful citizens of their community.

Another purpose of the association is to develop the spiritual side of the students' lives and thus prevent the narrowness of ideas and sympathies that would otherwise result.

The spirit of the society is kept alive by the regular prayer meetings, which are held on Thursday and Sunday evenings. These meetings show an increased attendance and interest during the last year. In connection with the Y. M. C. A. there is a Bible Class, whose sessions are led by students who are trained by a member of the faculty.

The work of the association at the present time is felt, not only in the school, but it is doing considerable for the poor of the town, as it is for the Sabbath School Mission.

Every year delegates are sent to the State Convention, and the District Convention of Normal Schools and Colleges. The State Convention of 1914, at which this chapter was well represented, was held in the town of Indiana.

The present officers of the organization are:

President	Mr. HARRY FEE
Vice President	Mr. HOMER LAUDENSLAGER
Treasurer	Mr. FRED SIEMONS
Secretary	Mr. IRVING WILLIAMS

THE Y. M. C. A. CABINET

Lincoln Debating Club

The Lincoln Debating Club is a student organization for the boys of the school. During the fall of 1909, with the advice and help of Prof. Albert Heckel the Club was organized with a charter membership of forty-five.

The number was at first limited to fifty, but it has lately been reduced to thirty-five. So eager are the boys to become members that there is always someone on the waiting list.

The Club holds regular weekly meeting at 10 o'clock on Monday mornings. The members are arranged in three sections, one of which debates at each meeting.

Following the debate, impromptu speeches are made by members of the other sections, this giving many the advantage of speaking.

The Club holds an annual debate and dance on Lincoln's birthday. On this occasion four of the strongest speakers of the Club are selected for the debate. This social affair has always been a very enjoyable one for the members of the Club and their guests.

This year the Club challenges the Kiski School to a debate, as Indiana was challenged by Kiski last year, the Lincoln Club winning.

The officers for the Fall term were:

President	C. H. LAUDENSLAGER
Vice President	WILMER BRICKLEY
Secretary	FRED. SIMON
Treasurer	ERNEST REESE
Critic	HOWARD KRING
Censor	WILLARD BROWN

The officers for the Winter term were:

President	WILMER BRICKLEY
Vice President	HARRY PEE
Secretary	ROBERT EPLEY
Treasurer	CLIFFORD CRAMER
Censor	WILLIAM MARKEL

Officers for Fall term, 1911:

President	GLENNIE CLEMENSON
Vice President	WILLIAM MARKEL
Secretary	CLAUENCE FLECK
Treasurer	FRED. SIMON
Critic	FRED. ST. CLAIR
Censor	HORACE TRIMBLE

The Erodelphian Literary Society

Motto: Per Aspera ad Astra

Colors: Blue and White

The Erodelphian Society was organized in 1875 shortly after the establishment of Indiana Normal. Its purpose was to help the literary tendencies of the students of the Normal.

Any student joining the society promises to appear twice. I think every one so far this year has done his part to further the society in its interest to the student body.

Several farces have been given at the society's open meetings, namely "The Harteville Shakesperre Club" and "Thank Goodness the Table is Spread." "Brown of Harvard," was presented by the society in Library Hall, March 30, 1914.

The Huyghenian Literary Society

"Search for Truth"

Organized 1875

The Huyghenian Literary Society was organized in 1875, shortly after the school was established.

They have grown from a few enthusiastic, hard-working members, one of which is our present precepiress, to a large and capable society, that takes an important place in the life of the school. They now number over one hundred. This increase in membership is due to the perseverance of their alumni and to the present members.

They do not rank high as a social organization, but are known for their untiring efforts to raise the literary standard. This does not mean that they have no social side, for at the beginning of each term they hold an open meeting, to which all are invited. At that time they present a regular program, which shows the kind of work they do.

It has always been their custom to present, sometime during the year, a dramatic entertainment in order to bring before the public the talent of their membership.

The Huyghenians of today look forward to a loyal devotion from the Huyghenians of tomorrow. Hoping that when their ideals are realized their society will grow larger and better each succeeding year.

Der Deutsche Literarische Verein

Of the various organizations of which Indiana is proud the German Club stands out among the foremost. The club was organized in the winter term of 1913, and is under the able leadership of Miss Marianne F. Baumbach, instructor of German.

The fundamental purpose of the club is to cultivate German conversation, so that the members may become more fluent speakers of the language. German is spoken exclusively and a small fine is imposed on those who accidentally use any English. The practicability of the club can hardly be overestimated; it provides the daily German newspapers and periodicals for its members, thus familiarizing them with the language as used in everyday life.

The membership of the club now numbers thirty and new members are being admitted. The meetings are held on Monday evening of each week in the Huyghenian Hall. Programs consisting of readings, essays and music are given by the talented members of the club. These are exceedingly enjoyable and profitable. At Christmas, this year, an entertainment was given by the club, open to all students and the faculty. Each member was presented with a small token in keeping with the Christmas spirit and refreshments were served to the members and to the faculty remaining after the entertainment.

The club anticipates giving a musical entertainment during the school year, the entertainer being Mrs. Baumbach, of Pittsburgh, whose ability as a pianist is well known to the people of Indiana.

The club has had a very prosperous past and is now established on a firm basis, having the sanction of all those officially connected with the school.

Every indication points to a successful future.

Recital by Mr. Dan Jones

The piano recital, given by that brilliant musician, Dan Jones, was without a doubt one of the best heard in Indiana for a long time. While all his numbers were well rendered, still in two of them he showed wonderful technique and thorough musicianship: Polonaise, Opus 53, by Chopin, and Paraphrase on Eugen Onegin by Tschaiakowski-Pabst.

The Sophist

The Sophist has fulfilled the expectations of the student body at Indiana and is now both a pleasure and a necessity.

In January, at the opening of the third year of The Sophist, Mr. Buchholz, who had successfully edited the paper since it was first started, found it necessary to resign. Wm. D. Markle, who was elected editor-in-chief to succeed Mr. Buchholz, has taken hold of the work with such zeal and energy as to insure the continuance of a student paper that will be the honor and pride of all normalites.

The Normal Herald

The Normal Herald started about 1888. It was during the administration of Dr. Z. N. Snyder, and J. C. McMichael, Professor of Mathematics, was its first editor-in-chief. The successors of Prof. McMichael have been Miss Mansfield, Prof. Elliot Owens, now of the State Normal School, Courtland, N. Y., and its present editor, Prof. John James.

The original plan was to make the Herald largely an educational and literary magazine, and the earlier numbers contain some excellent articles on these subjects. As time went on the educational and literary idea was abandoned, as the less pretentious one of making our little paper primarily the means of communication with the alumni and past students and friends of the school, seemed to be closer to our need.

We, who have made the Herald and with intent kept it to its simpler purpose, have not only marveled at the satisfaction received from it ourselves, but also at the pleasure it has afforded our old students. It is a common experience for us to have letters from these in distant lands and of many years' absence assuring us that they put aside everything when the Herald comes, and never stop until they have read it through from cover to cover, and that they dwelt lingeringly, not alone on the editorial matter and news, but on the advertisements as well. Patton's newly papered ice-cream parlor interests them as much as the account of the newly elected Principal.

The Herald gladly publishes news from its old students giving an account of their promotions, marriages or any matters of personal interest. During the 25 years of its history it has sadly recorded many deaths of loved Normalites and changes in trustees and faculty. So it remains a record of the passing of the old and the coming of the new.

Every time a member of the class of 1914 reads this little sketch we hope he will be reminded to make a note for the Herald and to send it at once to the editor-in-chief.

1914 TRACK SQUAD

The 1914 Track Season

Our track season this year has been an unusually successful one. Several records have been broken, including one world's mark. Raymond A. Carroll established a new record for the 60-yard dash. His time was 6 1-5 seconds. This mark is considered more remarkable as it was made on an indoor track. The old relay record, made by that famous quartet, —Meyers, Smith, Bruce, Castencha, in 1911, was lowered 2-5 of a second at the Pennsylvania State College Meet, by Gano, Carothers, Zener and Carroll. The other records that went are the 220-yard dash, the 440-yard run, the half mile run, the mile run, the two-mile run, the shot put, the hammer throw, discus and pole vault. The old mark in the 100-yard dash, made by "Mike" Casteneda, was equalled by "Butch" Carroll. As can be seen by the amount of records broken, Indiana has had this year the greatest aggregation of track athletes she ever had.

The first meet of the season was an indoor meet at Duquesne Garden, Pittsburgh. At this meet our relay team defeated the Penn State team by several yards. In this race the Kiski team had a 25-yard handicap and were beaten by almost a lap.

At the next meet, again at Duquesne Garden, we handed the State boys their second defeat. Although this was the last time of the year we succeeded in defeating the State team, the strength of our team can readily be ascertained as the State aggregation are considered the strongest they have ever had.

The third meet at Pittsburgh, saw our team under a severe handicap,—two men with bad ankles and one with the grippe. We had to be satisfied with fourth place. This meet ended our indoor season.

At the Penn Relays our team took first place without any trouble, defeating West Chester, Mansfield, East Stroudsburg and Millersville, and establishing a new record for their event. This gave them the Normal School Championship of the country. Carroll took fourth place in the open hundred. In his heat he defeated Patterson, the University of Pennsylvania star, who created such a sensation last year.

The Pennsylvania State College Meet was somewhat of a farce for our boys,—they bringing home nearly all of the medals. The point score was: Indiana, 149; Bloomsburg Normal, 13; Bellefonte Academy, 3.

At the Cornell Interscholastics, the following week, our team suffered the first real defeat of the season. Robinson and Goelitz, the only two representatives of the Keewatin Seminary, carried off first honors with 25 points, Mercersburg was second with 23½ points, Indiana third with 22½ points. Forty-two schools ranging from Boston to Chicago, competed. Kiski with three points was far down the list.

Our last meet of the year was with the Penn State Freshmen at Indiana. This meet was hotly contested and the most interesting of the year. We succeeded in defeating the "Up Staters" by a score of 73½ to 52½.

Of this year's team only Morrow and Brown will be lost next year. With the addition of several new stars, we predict a record-breaking team next season.

The championships of the Normal School Tennis League were fought out on the courts at Indiana on June first and second. After a hard struggle Clarion won two matches and the cup, through the superiority of her girls.

The boys' singles proved a rather easy match for Wilson of Indiana. In the finals he defeated in straight sets Weaver of California, winner of the singles last year. The outcome of boys' doubles was a disappointment to Indiana—Indiana was defeated in the preliminary round after taking the first set easily. The final was a long and rather slow match finally won by California.

Indiana had expected little from the girls' matches, so was agreeably surprised when Miss Flegal and Miss Douglass won both preliminary matches by playing far above their previous form. The finals in both singles and doubles were hotly contested. The feature of the play was the brilliant work of Miss Flegal. The victory in both matches went finally to Clarion because of Miss Sansom's long experience.

The tournament for next year will be held at California early in June.

MINOR

SPORTS

Minor Sports

Branches of Sport Other Than Football, Track, Etc.

Black "I's" are awarded to all who deserve them

Automobile Racing Team

Frank J. Meyers, Driver

Fifty Mechanics

Frank only entered one race this year and he had a big lead over the field when the bottom dropped out of his car. By the time he got a rake and gathered his bottom together the other entrants were so far ahead that it was impossible to catch up, even in a Metz. They towed him home.

Bull Fighting Team

Ross Johns, Captain

Sol Spencer

Buck Doran

Dan Moore

Murray Peelor

This is a wonderful aggregation. They do not meet the bull as in the days of the Matador, but pursue the ancient Roman method,—they grasp the bull by the horns and throw it, as did the mighty Ursus. They have been practicing on the seven hills surrounding Indiana (they practice on cows) for the past year and surely have a winning team.

The "Flinch" (?) Team

*John White

*John Williams

*John Doe

*John Jones

*John Smith

*John Brown

*These are all assumed names. The members of this team are all professionals and it is necessary to keep their right names silent or we will be without their services. This is a winning aggregation. You should see the pennies Bill,—I mean John Doe, has every Monday.

Boxing Team

	Heavyweight, Mike Lowman
Welterweight	Harry Fee
Middleweight	Walter Whiston
Lightweight	Bob Rheam
Featherweight	Doe Kring

This is a new branch of sport at the "University," but it promises to be a big thing next year, especially since Mike expects to get some fighting experience in the Mexican War. (I think he would make a better track man when he comes back, if he's counting on experience helping him.) Harry and Walter were "demons" in the class-fight so you know what they will do. Bob, in his past experience, has only lost one battle. In one of the hardest fights ever staged he was given the count by Kid Lowman. Bob says he wants to meet her again. Doe is a "black-horse."

Swimming Team—

After several attempts to establish a swimming team the idea had to be abandoned for the following reasons:

1. It has a great similarity to taking a bath.
2. It is inconvenient to swim in a bath tub, especially when an exciting race is on.
3. Every candidate has a tendency to swim on the bottom,—this is annoying to spectators when the water is muddy.

Senior Hay-Ride

On that September morning, four hay wagons carried the merry Seniors away from the scenes of ruin and destruction among the under classmen, to the more pleasing sites of Idlewood Park.

The continuous rain in the forenoon neither faded the Blue and Gold, nor did it wash away the high spirits of all present.

At noon some members of the faculty participated with the Seniors in an appealing luncheon. During the afternoon the party enjoyed to the fullest extent, dancing in the rustic pavilion. At four o'clock all returned to the hay-wagons and rode back to the Normal, enjoying the beautiful scenes of autumn and feeling that this should be counted among the many enjoyable events of their life at Indiana.

With yells and songs of merriment the Seniors marched through the dining room to dinner and the happy day was ended.

Junior Promenade

• The annual Halloween dance, given by the class of 1915, was one of the decided social successes of the year.

In the receiving line were Miss Leonard, Mrs. Jack, Mr. Jack and Mr. Wm. F. Smith, representing the faculty; Miss Watson, class secretary, and Mr. Fleck, class president, representing the class.

The dance was very enjoyable in spite of the fact that the Tango and Rag were under the ban. The music was furnished by the Conservatory Orchestra. The out-of-town guests were made to feel at home and enjoyed the evening very much.

"I" Banquet

For many years it has been the custom for those who have done successful work in any department of athletics and who have received the much coveted "I" to hold a banquet at the close of the foot-ball season.

This year was no exception. A score or more of young men and "their fair companions" were given this honor on the night of December 4th.

Every one felt proud and happy, and laughter reigned supreme. There was no end of jokes and funny stories. All formality was laid aside and each seemed determined to surpass the others in calling forth peals of laughter.

The later part of the evening was spent in dancing, which all enjoyed to the fullest extent.

Phi Delta Phi Luncheon

The members of the Phi Delta Phi Sorority entertained at a beautifully appointed luncheon on April eleventh. Covers were laid for twenty in the Wisteria Room of the Fort Pitt Hotel. The decoration in accordance with the season, were carried out in lavender and yellow. The girls were surprised and delighted to congratulate two of their number, Miss Mary McWreath and Miss Juanita Aikens, upon the announcement of their engagements. The luncheon was followed by a box party at the Nixen Theater.

The Agonian of Alpha Kappa Phi Convention

The "Agos" of Alpha Kappa Phi held their annual convention May First and Second, convening with the Iota Chapter of the Indiana Normal. Delegates were present from the various chapters, including those of the Grand Chapter.

Miss Dickhout of New York, presided at the business sessions, which, through the courtesy of the Huyghenians, were held in their room.

Amanda Renard, of Iota Chapter, was elected President of the Grand Chapter for the ensuing year.

The banquet was in the Dining Hall Annex, which was converted into a "Palan Room" for the occasion, with decorations of smilax, wild cherry blossoms and the "Frat" flower, the yellow rose. Miss Renard acted as toastmistress, and after the toasts, Miss Leonard, the honor guest, responded to a request for a talk, which was greatly appreciated by the girls.

A new compilation of the songs and yells of the order has been recently published and a copy was placed at each cover. During the evening many of them were lustily sung.

Mr. Rehm, the school chef, provided a fine dinner, carrying out the color scheme and the emblems.

The dance in "Ree Hall" closed the convocation festivities. In the center of the hall was a floral bower for the orchestra, other decorations being large banners of the "Agos," the Phi Alphas and the Omega Chis.

The patronesses were teacher representatives from the local sororities and Mrs. Horace Lowry, Mrs. George Buchanan, Mrs. Bedine, Miss Davis and Miss Leonard. Mrs. Cogswell, of Epsilon Chapter, also acted as a patroness.

A few of the alumnae members were present for the occasion and more would have come had the time not interfered with school duties. The visiting girls were lavish in their praises of the splendid Indiana school and the life in it.

Iota Chapter feels more than ever the need of a chapter house or room, after listening to the reports from the other chapters of their fraternity homes.

The next convocation will be at Brockport, N. Y., the second week in May, 1915. The magazine will be published by the Alpha Chapter and will be a quarterly.

What is that which sounds so clearly,
Clearly on the evening air?
'Tis the song of happy "Agos" singing;
You can hear them everywhere.
On the silent night it lingers,
Can you ask the reason why?
'Tis the song of happy "Agos" singing
In old Alpha Kappa Phi.

Sorority Dance

Pi Kappa Sigma ....

Phi Kappa Pi

On the night of March twenty-seventh Pi Kappa Sigma and Phi Kappa Pi Sororities gave a dance.

In the receiving line were: Mrs. Jack, Miss Ackerman, Miss Gertrude Laughlin and Miss Edna Marlin.

The hall was decorated in the colors of both sororities, blue and gold, and the music was furnished by Moore's Orchestra. After the dancing, all withdrew to the dining room where a delicious supper was served.

Many of the alumni members were present and this helped to make the occasion one of the most enjoyable of the season.

The Senior Ball

The greatest event of the year, the annual Senior Dance, was held Feb. 21. The receiving line, composed of Miss Ackerman, Mr. and Mrs. Jack, Mr. Bowman, Lula Esson, class secretary, and Homer Laudenslager, class president, formed at 7 o'clock.

Recreation Hall, decorated with the class colors, blue and gold, and daintily gowned maidens with their escorts, formed an enchanting spectacle. The music for the occasion was furnished by the St. Claire orchestra, which was surrounded by a bower of palms and ferns. The music was beyond description. Ask any Senior! The library, which served as a rest room, was attractively fitted up with divans, cushions, pennants, etc. The dance was a good representation of the class and faculty and only the absent ones have cause for regret. Dancing started at 7 and 10 o'clock we retired to the dining room, where we were served with an appealing lunch by the under class girls.

The dining room was prettily and tastefully adorned with the class colors, palms and ferns. After refreshments the dancing was continued until 11:30. The programs were a striking feature of the occasion and for further individual information see the memories on any program.

Swing Out Day

June the tenth, was a wonderful day,
'Twas then we crowned our Queen of May.
The faculty lifted their regulation
And gave us this day for our celebration.
With Lancy's bell we were up and about,
We had our caps and gowns laid out.
We dressed that morn with the greatest care,
We polished our shoes and we crimped our hair.
At last the arrangements all were made,
We were ready then for the promenade.
In somber files we marched through town
With conscious pride of our cap and gown.
The day was hot as before we said,
Those gowns weighed a ton, those caps were like lead.
With glad, warm hearts and warmer faces
We marched to the campus and took our places.
A crash from the band, a wild applause,
We craned our necks to see the cause.
Our May queen approached, a wondrous sight,
Sweet Mary Stoupe, in garments white,
And guarding her beauty, enhancing her grace,
Ten maidens attended her, of fair form and face.
There were Hazel and Martha and near them was Lu,
Marie, Elizabeth, yes, Elsie Jane too.
There were Mandy and Helen, Lily and Pearl,
Their white robes were flowing, their hair was in curl.
To the sound of the music inspiring and sweet,
They marched to the throne where the queen took her seat.
Then from the class, our rivals since fall,
Came a bevy of school girls to entertain all.
A fold dance in costume, a minuet stately,
Were danced with such grace that they pleased us all greatly.
They then wound the may-pole with its colors gay,
The crowning feature of this festive day,
And when all was over we each felt regret,
But that wonderful day we shall never forget.

The world had all gone wrong that day,
And tired and in despair,
Discouraged with the ways of life,
I sank into my chair.

A soft caress fell on my cheek,
My hands were thrust apart,
And two big sympathizing eyes
Gazed down into my heart.

I had a friend. What cared I now
For fifty worlds? I knew
One heart was anxious when I grieved,
My love's heart, loyal, true.

"God bless her," breathed I, soft and low,
And hugged her close and tight,
One lingering kiss upon my lips,
And we were happy, quite.

Then, life to me was one sweet dream,
And now, I loved it well,
But some poor simp gave me a kick,
"Wake up, there is the bell."

- Dec. 16—"What do you have to teach next term?" No more worrying over Arithmetic exams.
- Dec. 17—Will Howard Kring have a better time at the frat. dance if he doesn't dance?
- Dec. 18—Mr. Gordon to Miss Wesley, "Don't get discouraged even if you do fall up stairs before Xmas." "Can a girl eat 1 gal. ice cream?"
- Dec. 19—The last day at I. S. N. S. in '13. The Omega Chi dance in Rec. Hall.
- Jan. 6—"Muggin'" Day at Indiana.

The Instano

Jan. 7—Seniors are viewed by their "Critics." Great trembling for the new student teachers.

Jan. 8—First day at Model. Many frail and wan looking Seniors as result.

Jan. 9—The boys draw for new tables. Did Howard scheme?

Jan. 10—Everybody may dance this eve—that is, those who can get in.

Jan. 11—Will we ever get over it? Chocolate ice cream and chicken for dinner.

Jan. 12—If you were never "frozen" before, you were to-day.

Jan. 13—What would you say, after you had recited one of those terrible laws in Physics, if Mr. James should say to you, "I don't think you're right."

Jan. 14—Were you absent from criticisms.

Jan. 15—Ask Sara Francies regarding Mr. James' belief that a student has to repeat the definition of power 20 times before he knows it.

Jan. 16—Girls' Basketball team organized. "Peg" Flegal chosen Captain. Disappointed girls as result of Miss Leonard's meeting—no more movies—no more Hauxhursts—but more breakfast.

Jan. 17—Girls' first basketball game. I. S. N. S., 18—Edgewood High, 8.

Jan. 18—Did everyone live up to the commandment Miss Leonard had us repeat.

Jan. 19—Our friend Grace Wagner was welcomed back today. Knight Eyre blows east.

Jan. 20—What ails the "Smiths"? Why is Miss Utter wearing "The smile that won't come off?"

Doris was radiant over a recent addition to the family, and rushed out of the house to tell the news to a passing neighbor.

"Oh, you don't know what we've got upstairs!" she cried.

"What is it?"

"It's a new baby brother!" And expectantly she watched the effect of her announcement.

"You don't say so! Is he going to stay?"

"I think so"—very thoughtfully.
"He's got his things off!"

The order which the comely young German woman handed in at the post-office savings bank was made payable to Gretchen H. Schmidt, and she had signed it simply Gretchen Schmidt. The man of the counter called her back to rectify the mistake just as she was turning away.

"See, you have forgotten the H," he explained.

The young woman looked at her receipt and then blushed a rosy red.

"Ach, so I haf," she murmured, and wrote hurriedly:

"Age 23."

One predicts a future for the school-boy who wrote the following terse narrative about Elijah:

"There was a man named Elijah. He had some bears and he lived in a cave. Some boys tormented him. He said: 'If you keep on throwing stones at me, I'll turn the bears on you and they'll eat you up.' And they did and he did and the bears did."

Last Christmas eve, in a town in Virginia, an old negro had been out celebrating, and, on board a car for home, he dropped a quart bottle of gin to the pavement.

Mournfully surveying the shattered fragments, he exclaimed: "Dah! Christmas done come an' gone!"

The late Maurice Barrymore was the idol of the "Lambs" during his lifetime, and even now the members of that club take delight in citing instances of his ready sympathy or sprightly wit.

One day, so the story goes, Barrymore was swinging down Fifth Avenue when Sidney Rosenfeld, the playwright, rushed up to him, all excitement.

"Oh, Maurice," he wailed, "have you heard of my misfortune?"

"No," Barrymore sympathized; "is there illness in your family?"

"Not that," said Rosenfeld; "but almost as bad. My little boy, five years of age, got hold of my new play and tore it to tatters."

"I didn't know the child could read," said Barrymore—and continued his walk.

Ed Cook was a butcher with considerable native wit. One day just before dinner, when his shop was full of customers, a man whom he did not like very well came in and asked for a dime's worth of dog meat.

"All right," said Ed; "will you have it wrapped up or just eat it here?"

An old farmer who had driven into the neighboring village to make a few purchases took back with him rather more hard cider than was consistent with careful driving. While going down a steep hill his horse stumbled, fell flat in the road, and refused to get up. The farmer looked at him a moment over the dashboard, then exclaimed:

"Git up, you old fool! Git up, or I'll drive right over you!"

An alienist, while going through the insane asylum at Howard, R. I., not long ago came upon a man sitting in a brown study on a bench.

"How do you do, sir," said the alienist kindly. "What is your name, may I ask?"

"My name?" said the other, frowning fiercely. "Why, King George, of course."

"Indeed!" replied the alienist. "But the last time I was here you were Theodore Roosevelt."

"Yes, of course," answered the other quickly, "but that was by my first wife."

GETS OUT OF IT.

The Smiths' baby was born on a Christmas morn., and it was the first babe of the Smiths, and it was exactly a year old on the Christmas Day when a party was held to celebrate the time. His name was John, but he was generally called "Johinnie" for long, and there was never such an infant in the wide world.

"He is a thorough genius," exclaimed Mrs. Smith. "I'm sure of it."

"He will become an inventor," said Mr. Smith, "for he is so original."

"Maybe an actor," sighed Mrs. Smith, "for he is so beautiful."

"Or a musician," piped in Mr. Smith, "for his voice reminds me of Mendelssohn."

"Or a general in the army," guessed Mrs. Smith, "he is so active."

"Or a great politician!" exclaimed Mr. Smith, with enthusiasm.

"But why a politician?" queried the wife, in disappointed tones.

"Because, my dear," came the reply, "he seems to crawl out of everything so—easily."

A MISTAKE.

As one day I sat a thinking,
With a spirit that was sinking,
Of a composition in literature that was due the following day,
Came the sound of someone rapping,
Softly tapping, tapping, tapping,
'Twas a sound I'd heard so often in that same old cautious way.

"'Tis some female," then I muttered,
But I scarce had these words uttered,
Till again I heard the rapping at my humble little door;

Still in silence I sat waiting,
With my heart a-paliating,
Till the silence grew oppressive and I could not stand it more.

"Come," I whispered with emotion,
For I had a sort of notion
'Twas someone without permission, coming thus to seek for aid.
But to my surprise the maiden,
Entered not as I'd persuaden,
But remained in utmost silence, and no
answer still she made.

Quickly from my chair I hastened,
To the door which wasn't fastened,
Threw it open with a contention that would fain the maiden freeze;
But, alas, my frown was needless,
For upon the outside heedless,
Stood the plumber who was waiting just as patient as you please.

"Miss Cocker, too," joined the niece hurriedly.

Whereupon the man of plush and buttons opened the drawing room door and, with all the dignity of his profession, ushered them into the midst of the company with the convulsive announcement:

"Miss Cocker and Miss Cockatoo!"

GIVE ME A DAY.

Give me a day in a shady nook,

Deep in some drowsy dell,

A clear, cool spring, and its woodland brook

With a sound like a silver bell.

Give me a seat on the softest moss.

Far from the world and all,

Where sunbeams play when the treetops toss.

And the gossiping bluejays call.

Give me my Sweet with her lovelit eyes.

Her crown of radiant hair.

And never a nook neath the arching skies

Will hold a happier pair.

AS A FISH?

"I cannot understand why a man should want to drink intoxicating liquors," said Owens to a company of boys,—not considered goodies.

"Why," said John, "simply because the temperance societies are not accomplishing a great deal and so men with a sense of duty try to consume all they can so as to get it out of the country."

"Then why do they not buy out the saloons and empty the beverage into the river?" asked Owens.

And Paul, replied, "Because it would make the fish drunk."

REFLECTIONS OF A LATE RISER.

Oh, the clanging and the banging of the bells.

What a world of expectation their melody foretells.

Of the breakfast steaming hot.

Which to miss is e'er my lot.

Of all physics problems done.

Which prepared I have not one;

Of the German verbs not learned.

And just then my thoughts have turned

To the theme I did not write:

Well, I never do things right.

So I rise with hesitation.

And have sort of a temptation

To call forth a headache awful.

But I know 'twould be unlawful.

So I rise about 6:50.

Don my garments rather swiftly

And go down and face the music which is sure to wait for me.

AND THEY ARE BROTHERS—The fashion of naming colored children after the Father of His Country seems to be changing. I am inclined to believe that many olored parents are naming their offspring after Pullman cars. This theory is altogether reasonable, considering the fact that so many of the proud fathers are porters. I know of one such father on the Pennsylvania lines whom I refer to as George. George has quite an interesting family, consisting of Marcelle, Gonzella and Poinciana. Marcelle, I hasten to inform you, is a boy, and when his school principal recently suggested that he change it to Marcellus, there was an indignant protest from his mother.

Which rambling thoughts lead me to a story I must tell you. Clifford Barnes, of the Sunday Evening Club, was leaving his office in the Otis Building when he encountered in the hallway two little pickaninnies, evidently the children of one of the subjanitors.

"What's your name?" he demanded of the older of them.

"Ma name," replied the little fellow, "is Hubert Gladstone St. Ignatius Brown."

"And your brother's name?" asked Barnes.

"His name am jes' Pieface,"—Chicago Inter-Ocean.

The big red touring car struck a pedestrian, rolling him in the mud and maltreating him in general. The owner ran back, greatly excited, after stopping his car. "Is he dead?" he asked anxiously of the physician who was working over the victim. "Oh, no," replied the physician cheerfully. "He's not dead; he's merely run down."

OMNIPRESENCE.

Long, level rays of mellow, golden light
Dispel the chilling mists of fleeing night;

I awake, while yet the world is wet with dew,
And start adown the day with thots of you.

But now I feel the drowsy god of sleep,
Feel all his subtle scothing o'er me creep;

Yet, ere I sink to slumber neath his might,
My heart to your heart sends a sweet good-night.

My thots trail dimly at his silent call,
My weary eyelids, softly weighted, fall,
And all the world slips from me far, it seems.

When lo, I find you present in my dreams.

HEART-HUNGER.

I feel no joy in gift or gain,
The singing of the birds is vain,
The flowers bud, and bloom, and fall
For me unheeded, and the call
Of friendship is a galling chain.

The very haunts I held so dear
Because she shared them, now are drear,
The memories that round them cling
Are bitter mockeries, and bring
Redoubled pain instead of cheer.

This world is but a prison place
Whose hated corridors I pace,
And thru its narrow casements see
My world of love withheld from me,
With bars e'en time cannot efface.
H. P. S.

Mr. Simpson: To plant grain.

As Told by a Tree

Do you think, oh little children, as you pass beneath my bough

The first love word I ever heard is that you utter now?

Do you think, my little children, as you
linger near my shade,

That vows so true as those you speak,
have ne'er before been made?

More years ago than you might count,

More times than you might ken,

Those selfsame words, those selfsame vows

Have passed 'twixt maids and men.

When I was but a tiny sprig,

Scarce taller than the grass,

I had my first encounter

With a lover and his lass.

He was an Indian tall and strong;

The words his lips could frame

Were different far from those you speak,—

Their meaning was the same.

His strong young arm around her,

He locked on her with pride

And feared she would o'er-tire herself,

This dark-haired Indian bride.

I raised my head in wonder,

It did me quite amaze,

So loving was his gentle voice,

So ardent his gaze.

Again they passed beside me—

I'd had not time to grow—

A heavy pack lay on her back,

Her steps were pained and slow.

Her lord rode fresh before her!

I gasped and gazed with awe,

And then I slowly understood,—

The bride was now the squaw.

And then two other lovers came

In just a year or two;

A Puritan swore the lover's vow

And promised to be true.

The maiden came again alone,

Her eyes with weeping red;

Alas, his vows in jest were made,

The faithless man had fled!

And when I'd grown a little more,

Perhaps was six feet high,

A continental soldier with

His bride came wandering by.

He told her, as they all did,

That he loved her more than life.

He kept his word; I saw her

When she was a well-loved wife.

Again, when I became mature

And stood here tall and bold,

Another couple wandered here

To tell their story old.

But very soon, ah, all too soon,

He came with low bowed head

And leaned against my heart and groaned;

His bride-to-be was dead.

And many more have passed this way,

Have stood on this same spot,

And all have told the selfsame tale;

Some spoke the truth, some not.

So now you understand, my friends,

Why I felt no surprise

At the passion in your voices or

The love-light in your eyes.

I have seen some real affection

Blessed and sent from Heaven above,

But alas, must I confess it?

I've seen more of "puppy" love.

A BEE IN YOUR BONNET

Not a Presidential bee, not a political bee of any sort, but the bee in your bonnet should be the lesson taught by the little hustler, the bee itself. The bee is a worker. He is also a scrapper. EVER GET AC-QUAINTED WITH HIS BUSINESS END? He looks out for his own, stands up for his rights, but above all, he works and SAVES. He does not save in an individual pile, either. He goes in with others of his kind and BANKS his earnings in the hive. The bee has in all ages been considered a wise old boy—and he is. Put his plan into your bonnet, lid, Panama, or whatever kind of headpiece you happen to wear. It will beat a political bee at least ten different ways. Use our Bank for your hive and get four per cent. compound interest on your money.
